ATLANTA (AP) — The Coca-Cola Co. has decided to put its mouth where the money is in the battle for the nickels, dimes and quarters of soft-drink fans.

The Atlanta-based firm has developed a vending machine that talks, and the first 100 machines are on their way to bottlers in Georgia, Kentucky, Illinois, Louisiana, Tennessee, Michigan and Texas.

"Hi, I'm The Talking Vendor machine from Coca-Cola," the machine declares after money is deposited.

It also can remark, "You need to put in more money" and "Make your selection, please."

The machine will say "Sorry, sold out," when it's empty and it reminds customers, "Don't forget your change."
